

250,000 TO 500,000 RUSSIANS CUT OFF BY GERMANS

ENTIRE NATION WILL SHARE MONSTER LOAN

"Billion Dollar" Loan Is to Bring Five Per Cent and Bonds Will Be First Lien Upon France and the British Empire—"Almighty Dollar" Reigns Supreme.

By Associated Press.
New York, September 20.—The largest underwriting syndicate the western world has ever known was in progress of formation today, to handle the proposed "billion dollar" credit loan to Great Britain and France, has now shrunk, it was reported, to a sum yet to be determined between $600,000,000 and $800,000,000.

This mammoth syndicate, according to tentative arrangements, said to have been agreed upon, will be nationwide in its character, and will comprise national and state banks and trust companies from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

A number of so-called pro-German financiers, it was reported, will join the syndicate if it be finally agreed that the proceeds of the big loan shall be available only for commodity exports, and not for munitions of war.

The price at which this syndicate will put out the British and French government bonds, which will be issued to secure the loan, will be par. The bonds will pay 5 per cent interest, and will be a first mortgage upon the entire British empire and France and her colonies.

All other obligations of the two nations will be subordinated to the proposed big bond issue here.

For the first time in history, the English pound sterling has yielded first place in international finance to the American dollar, in this respect: The whole big issue of bonds will be payable in American dollars, principal and interest.

For generations past, Great Britain's bonds have been payable only in sterling.

As soon as the definite terms of the proposed loan shall have been agreed upon, bank and trust companies throughout the country, it is understood, will be invited by a general announcement to become parties to the syndicate underwriters.

Maloney was taken to a hospital seriously injured. The thieves escaped.

VILLA ON THE ALERT

By Associated Press.
Washington, September 20.—Enrique Gonzales Garza, provisional executive in Mexico City during the Villa-Zapata occupation, arrived here today as an emissary of General Villa.

Garza will try to show that Carranza, while making his campaign against Villa in the north, has withdrawn large forces from south and central Mexico, and lost control of territory he once held.

Reports were current in official quarters that Villa has indicated he would accept General Obregon, Carranza's commander-in-chief, for provisional president of Mexico. Villa agents pronounced the idea absurd.

About 5,000 invalid signatures were thrown out.

By Associated Press.
New York, September 20.—Charles F. Brooker, former Republican national committeeman from Connecticut and one of the defendants in the government suit against the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railway Company, today asked Federal Judge Hunt for a separate trial.

He gave as his reason that he does not want to be arraigned with Edward D. Robbins, former counsel of the New Haven, who is alleged to have sanctioned the acquisition of the subsidiaries which created the alleged monopoly denounced by the indictment.

The occupation of Torreón by the Carranza forces under General Obregon, was under way today, according to an unofficial report.

REPORTS INDICATE GREAT MASS OF RUSSIAN TROOPS WILL FALL WITHIN LOOP TIED BY TEUTONS

Victorious Germans Pursuing the Fleeing Russians on Nearly All Sides of Vilna—Rear Guard Work of Russ is Bitter—Germans Claim Serbians Have Been Thrown Back—First Mention of German Troops on Serb Frontier.

By Associated Press.
London, September 20.—The Russian army, menaced since the fall of Vilna by the German encircling movement, is estimated variously at 250,000 to 500,000 men.

The conditions under which the Russians are trying to extricate themselves, furnish a striking parallel to those which followed the capture of Warsaw.

They may precipitate one of the greatest, if not the greatest, battle which has been fought on the eastern front.

So far as can be judged, Field Marshal von Hindenburg's troops have flung a loop about the Russians, over a front of some 200 miles, and are not only in their rear but are menacing seriously the single railway line and the few available wagon roads stretching to the south.

As was the case at Warsaw, the number of Russian prisoners left in Vilna was not great.

Opinion is divided whether von Hindenburg will seek merely to close his loop, thus capturing the army within the next few days or, not content with this, will press eastward in an effort to reproduce the encircling movement on a more gigantic scale.

Similar tactics attempted after the fall of Warsaw met with failure.

The Russians are employing their familiar rear guard tactics.

Next to Warsaw, Vilna is the most important town in western Russia. It is a railway junction of great military importance. It was from Vilna that Napoleon fled in disguise in 1812, during the retreat from Moscow.

Berlin, September 20.—Announcement was made by the War Office today of an attack, by German forces on the Serbians.

It was said the Serbians were driven back.

German forces are pursuing the Russian army, which is attempting to escape from the enveloping movement in the Vilna region.

The Russians are offering little resistance to the advancing Germans.

This is the first official announcement of the presence of Germans on the Serbian front.

It has been reported for several weeks that the Germans and Austrians were planning a new campaign in the Balkans, with the object of going to the assistance of the Turks.

PASSENGERS RESCUED FROM BURNING VESSEL

By Associated Press.
Halifax, N. S., September 20.—The Greek steamer Athinal was destroyed by fire at sea with the loss of one life, according to a message received by the marine department today.

The steamer Tuscania rescued 408 passengers and crew, and the steamer Roumanian Prince 61 others.

The message from the Tuscania was dated at 7 a. m. today, and was the first official word received from the liner since the wireless report last night that the Athinal was afire and the Tuscania had rescued the passengers.

The origin of the fire was not stated in the message. One man jumped overboard and was drowned. The Athinal carried 61 first cabin, 47 second cabin and 213 steerage passengers.

New York, September 20.—The Athinal left New York last Thursday for Piraeus, Greece, carrying few passengers, a large general cargo and many bags of mail.

According to her schedule the Tuscania, which is reported to have rescued many passengers, would have been due in New York today, but owing to delay, apparently caused by the fire on board the Athinal she was not expected to arrive before tomorrow.

The Athinal was of 4,400 tons, and owned by the National Steamship Navigation Company. She plied between American and Grecian ports.

Cincinnati, September 20.—According to S. A. Headley of this city, his sister-in-law, Miss Edna Giffin, a Presbyterian missionary whose home is in Cairo, Egypt, was a passenger on the Athinal.

Pittsburg, September 20.—Two of the passengers on the Athinal were the Rev. W. B. Jamison, and his bride of only a few weeks, their wedding having taken place in Cadiz, Ohio.

They were United Presbyterian missionaries, on their way to Egypt.

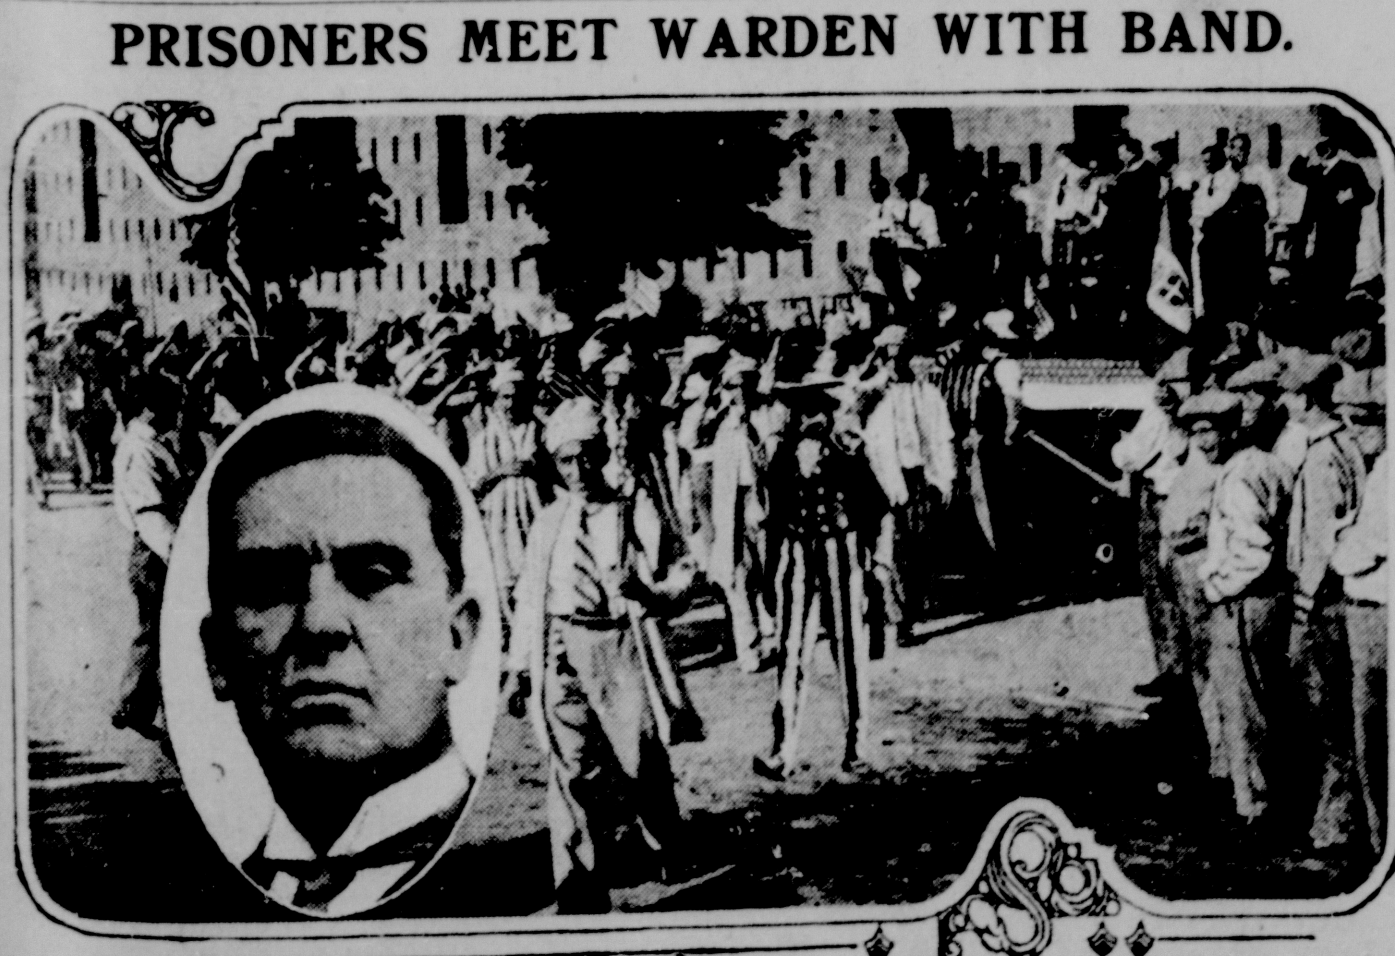

ARCHIBALD NOT MOLESTED

New York, September 20.—James F. J. Archibald, the American correspondent who was intercepted by British authorities while carrying a message from Dr. Dumba, Austro-Hungarian ambassador, arrived here today on the liner Rotterdam. He was not arrested.

Several secret service men went to Archibald's stateroom and questioned him for some time.

After leaving quarantine, Archibald said:

"I do not know anything about the situation here. If there is any contemplated prosecution of me it is perfectly unjust."

VILNA IN HANDS OF THE GERMANS

Important Railroad Center Lost to the Russians.

CZAR'S SOLDIERS IN DANGER

In Triangular Position and Nearly Surrounded and Must Fight Their Way Out—Minor Victories On the Western Front Claimed by Each Side—British Gain at the Dardanelles.

London, Sept. 20.—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's army has occupied Vilna, an important railroad center, and by a wide sweeping movement to the north of that city has succeeded in almost if not entirely surrounding a portion of the Russian army which is fighting in the railway triangle between Vilna, Lida and Vileika.

At any rate the Russian forces in this district either must fight their way out eastward or retire in a southeasterly direction, for the only railway left entirely in their hands is that which runs from Vilna to Lida and thence to Baranovitch.

The army of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, which took Vilna and has reached Vileika to the east of Vilna, is working in close co-operation with forces of Arch Duke Leopold of Bavaria in an effort to catch a part of the Russian army, an operation which has been so often tried without success since the Austro-Germans commenced their drive in western Galicia in early May.

At the southern end of the line General Ivanoff is still keeping Field

Marshal Von Mackensen at arm's length from the fortress of Rovno, the key to the route to Kiev, and in counter attacks has retaken a number of villages both in Volhynia and Galicia.

It seems apparent from the inability of the Austro-Germans to hold their position in the southern area that they have sent reinforcements from that front to Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's northern army, which, as heretofore, is expected to score the biggest success.

Vilna is a city of some 170,000 inhabitants on the Warsaw-Petrograd railway line and has been the object of a German offensive movement for weeks past in the course of the widespread operations of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg on the northern end of the extended battle line in the east.

Both the Germans and the French claim minor victories on the western front, but neither there nor in the Italian theater have any events of great moment been reported.

A Dardanelles correspondent reports the capture by the British of Hill No. 60, an important ridge on the Gallipoli peninsula. He states that the Turks in this engagement lost 5,000 men.

In his letter and his comment on the letter Mr. Daniels points out that the navy is now poorly equipped for the proper conduct of the experimental and development work which it is constantly carrying on. In some special lines the navy is better equipped than any commercial establishment, but in others it is far behind in facilities for developing its projects and, in the secretary's opinion, there is a lack of the necessary co-ordination of all officers in this direction.

SECRETARY.

AGAINST WAR

New York, Sept. 20.—Workers for the Church Peace union are getting ready to wage a campaign throughout the country against war in the future. The campaigners will be known as the flying squadron and, starting from New York and Philadelphia, they will hold mass meetings in all the cities and towns within a radius of 100 miles.

The announcement of the campaign came from the headquarters of the union, which is the $2,000,000 foundation established last year by Andrew Carnegie to promote the cause of peace through church organizations, of which Bishop Greer is the president.

Uppermost in the work of the campaign will be the getting of signatures to a petition to be sent to President Wilson and congress, declaring, among other things, for the reduction of armaments of all nations as rapidly as possible, though "not ignoring the needs of national security and defense while such reduction is being made."

It is expected that several thousand ministers of all denominations will take part in the campaign.

DEATH COMES IN ENGLAND

New York, Sept. 20.—The death of Mrs. Malvina Drummond, formerly of Chicago, at her estate, Cadland, near Southampton, England, was announced in a cablegram received here. Marshall Field 3d, her son and his wife, sailed from here on the liner St. Louis for Liverpool.

Mrs. Drummond, who was formerly Mrs. Marshall Field, was known on both sides of the Atlantic for the splendor of her entertainments. Before her marriage to Marshall Field, Jr., son of Marshall Field, founder of the great Chicago department store, Mrs. Drummond was Miss Albertine Huck, a daughter of Louis D. Huck, a Chicago maltster. Three children, Marshall Field, 3d, Henry Field and Gwendolyn Field, who are among the richest children in America, were born to her. Mrs. Drummond was married to Mr. Drummond in 1908.

ILLICIT STILL IS RAIDED

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 20.—United States revenue officers discovered a large plant for making "moonshine" whisky on United States Senator Hoke Smith's country place near Atlanta. The still was a large one and there were indications that a quantity of whisky has been made in the last twenty-four hours. No one was found at the still when the revenue officials made the raid. The "moonshine" plant was located within 300 yards of Senator Smith's residence and 500 yards from the home of United States Attorney Hooper Alexander, who is a radical prohibitionist. Senator Smith signed the Georgia statewide prohibition law when he was governor.

SUB. RESTS AT BOTTOM OF SEA

New York, Sept. 20.—That the submarine which destroyed the steamship New York City last month is herself now resting on the bottom of the sea is the statement made in a letter made public by Captain Thomas Fleming Day of New York city, which he received from the skipper of the lost vessel. The New York City's captain was Horace Barclay and in his message he tells graphically of the pursuit by the undersea craft and of the methods employed by the Germans, which later in the day resulted in the loss of the submarine on the approach of a British patrol.

Rev. Ross Leaves

When the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, meeting in Columbus last week, saw fit, in its wisdom, to transfer Rev. F. E. Ross from Grace church, this city, to Ironton, is granted a promotion fully merited by Rev. Ross.

Washington, however, lost one of the ablest, one of the kindest and most agreeable men, who ever occupied a pulpit here and this city has been particularly fortunate in the men who have graced the pulpits of the city churches.

Rev. Ross is a deep student of the Bible, an exceedingly entertaining instructor in the Sunday school room and a preacher whose logic and eloquence are at once convincing and charming.

He was possessed, too, of an exceedingly likely personality, at ease in any gathering, thoroughly and pleasingly democratic in his manners and habits and informed upon every issue of importance.

Rev. Ross' influence for good in this community was not confined to the membership of his church. Every man, whether enrolled as a member of any church or not, enjoyed his call and he made many of them during his residence here.

Washington regrets to lose Rev. Ross. His term of service here will long remain a pleasant memory.

His successor, Rev. J. V. Stone, will be cordially welcomed by our citizens who, judging from the reputation which precedes him, will be able to take up the splendid work which Mr. Ross so ably carried on.

Important Work?

Auditor of State Donahey and Attorney General Turner are again occupying considerable space in the newspapers. The former asked of the latter an opinion concerning the possibility that the state would be liable to ousted department employees in the event the Supreme Court held the present civil-service law unconstitutional.

The attorney general injected some veiled sarcasm in his opinion when he suggested that the question were more imaginary than real and that the auditor was perfectly safe in paying the employees who actually performed the work.

The auditor of state didn't take kindly to having his request made light of and for that reason refused to follow it.

Thus the people of Ohio are afforded another opportunity of seeing a tempest in a tea pot. All because of the chaotic condition of the public service of the state and the unseemly scramble for place.

About nine tenths of the effort of the state officials these days seems to be exerted toward assisting fellow partisans to break into a job.

Service to the public seems to be secondary to the task of assisting some co-worker in his endeavor to become one of those who draw money from the public treasury.

Both the attorney general and the auditor of state could be occupying their time in work vastly more important.

End of a Summer of War

With the summer campaigns of the European war drawing to their close the advantage, at this time, seems all to be with the Teutonic allies.

Russia has been driven back at tremendous cost and Galicia and Poland are now securely in the possession of Germany and Austria, with every probability that they will so remain until well into the campaigns of next summer. The Russian armies are disorganized and discouraged, the Russian people feel humiliated and rebellious, while the charges that the lack of ammunition and arms with which to stay the German advance was due to corruption in official circles seems to have sufficient basis in fact to justify the fear that conditions which brought about Russia's humiliation in the war with Japan have not been relieved.

England, France, Belgium and Italy seem barely able to retain their defensive attitude on the west front. England is facing conscription because the people of Great Britain seem unable or unwilling to realize the gravity of the situation.

France and Belgium have been pressed to the limit and cannot be expected to do more than they have done. Italy is straining every resource to maintain a comparatively feeble advance against Austria. Bulgaria still maintains a neutral attitude despite rumors of an alliance with first one and then the other of the warring nations. The Dardanelles are as yet secure in the grasp of the fanatical Turk and his allies, and so far resist successfully every attack both on land and sea.

The coming of winter, which has already been heralded by the heavy rains in Russia, may bring revolt among the Slav people against their government or the mutterings of discontent may drive the Czar to accept separate peace.

On the other hand, the Teutons are hopeful of final victory, and flushed with the brilliant successes of their armies in the field, are willing and anxious to endure the hardships and heartaches which war imposes upon them.

Poetry For Today

FATE'S WAY.

Two shall be born the whole wide world apart,
And speak in different tongues, and have no thought
Each of the other's being, and no heed;
And these o'er unknown seas to unknown lands
Shall cross, escaping wreck, defying death;
And all unconsciously shape every act
And bend each wandering step to this one end—
That one day on a curve they'll smash their cars,
Head on, and go to glory, neck and neck!

And two shall keep their cars in one garage,
And daily wrangle o'er the style and worth
Of their respective makes, and of the brand
Of gas and oil they use; and they shall race
On long, wide country roads and narrow lanes;
And call each other names that Webster bars
The while they jockey ruthlessly to force
Each other into ditch or fence; and yet
Shall never graze a hub nor black an eye!

BIG CIRCUS IS HERE AND MAMMOTH CROWDS ATTEND

Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus Arrives Sunday Afternoon and Big Crowd Watches Unloading—Magnificent Pageant—Monster Crowd Attends Afternoon Performance and Another Equally Large Audience Expected Tonight.

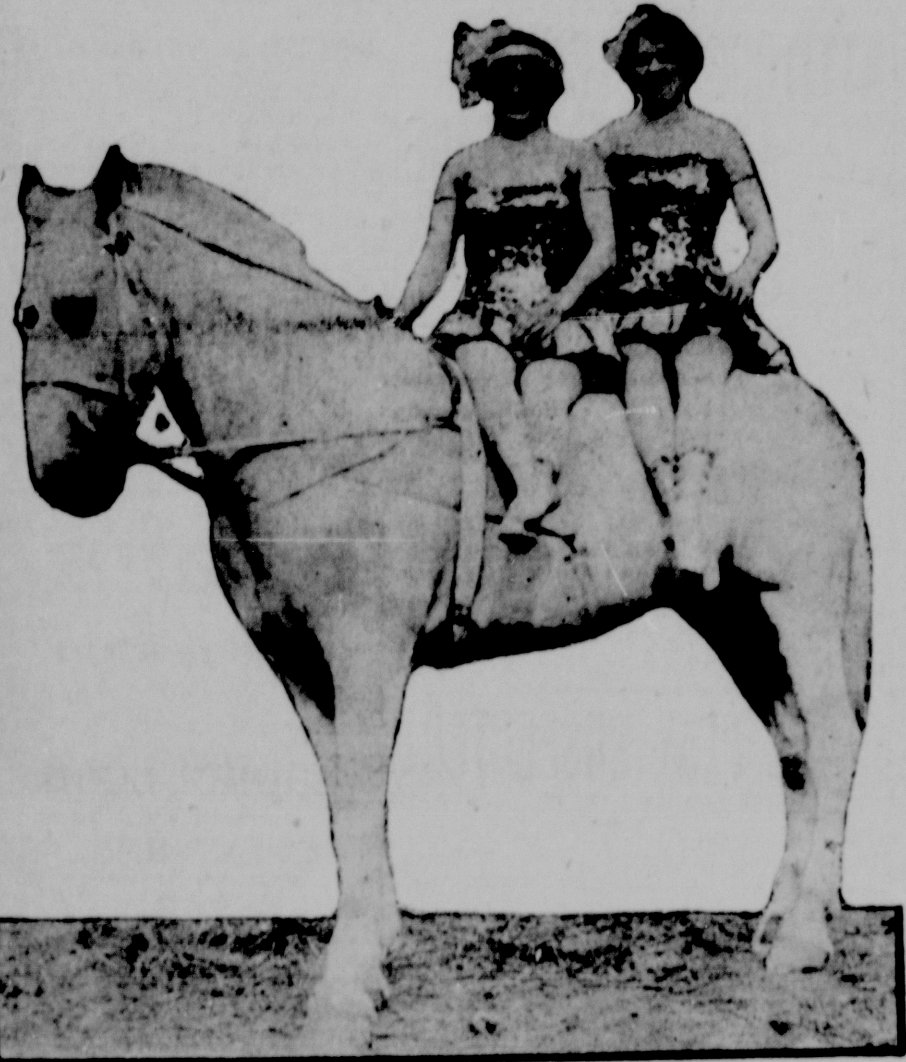

With bands trumpeting, clowns shouting, lions roaring, and red wagons rumbling, the gorgeous and fantastic street pageant of the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace circus passed over the principal down town streets of Washington C. H., this morning while thousands lined the streets, curbs and crowded office windows in an effort to get a glimpse of the shop the barbers found no idle moments.

In the library tent were many performers reading the daily newspapers and magazines. One little English girl, was writing to her brother now at the front in France with the allies. Some of the women of the circus found time after breakfast to do a little knitting for the soldiers.

The afternoon crowd was a mammoth one and utmost satisfaction was expressed over the hundreds of attractions offered and the high standard of the performance generally.

Several Washington C. H. boys are with the big circus, among them being Billie Backenstoe, who has charge of the reserve seats, and "Pat" Burke, who is general manager of all tickets. Both men have been with the show for several years and parade. What they saw and heard was not disappointing. It was one of the biggest and best street parades ever seen in the city.

Nearly eighteen nationalities were represented in the pageant; music of their native lands was played on fife, symbal, tom tom, drums and harps. Military bands yielded circus melodies and there were two immense steam calliopes which played such tunes as "Back to the Carolina I Love," "When You Were a Tulp," etc. There were upwards of a hundred mounted knights and ladies in costume of court.

The Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus reached Washington C. H. Sunday afternoon. The three long trains of yellow cars were shunted into convenient sidings of the C. H. & D. railroad yards and soon the work of unloading began. As fast as the great red and yellow wagons were rolled from the flat cars, teams of powerful draft horses hauled them to the circus grounds. The first wagon to be unloaded was the one containing the immense steel cooking ranges, which was followed by the refrigerator and other wagons pertaining to the cook house.

On the circus grounds the tents began to nose their way into the air like some giant Aladdin like palace. The cook tents and canvas hotels were erected first, for food must await the hungry army of showmen on the way. Dinner was ready at 5 o'clock.

At the circus grounds thousands flocked about to catch the marvelous business system which prevailed. Towering center poles were pulled into the air by teams of horses. The little steam stake driver hummed merrily. Over in the circus barber

2000 LOADS OF GRAVEL DISTRIBUTED

In Paint township last week the new road law was given a thorough test, and 2,000 loads of gravel were distributed upon the roads of that township, under the direction of four Road Superintendents recently chosen by the trustees of that township.

The superintendents appointed are Clell Allen, Lennie Long, Ray Long and Henry Raider. By having four superintendents it is possible to work many more men than under one superintendent, and one day 40 wagons were hauling gravel from the pit to the road.

The trustees, Al Smith, Howard Foster and Robert Pummell, are greatly pleased with results of the new method of superintending road construction.

LOST GIRL RESTORED TO ARMS OF MOTHER

The little six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Steward, residing in the southern part of the city, became confused while on her way home from school Monday morning and wandered in the opposite direction from home.

Chief Moore was notified and, by taking the child in a rig and driving along the streets, he finally located the little tot's mother, who was overjoyed in having her child restored in safety.

DARING ROBBERY OCCURS ON SOUTH FAYETTE STREET

Mrs. Orie Blackmore Is Held Up by Dusky Highwayman, Who Snatches Purse, and After Breaking Strap Flees With Some $12—Considerable Excitement Results.

Great excitement was occasioned on South Fayette street, near the Paint creek bridge, Saturday night between nine and ten o'clock, when some unknown colored man robbed Mrs. Orie Blackmore, by seizing her purse containing some $12 in currency and silver.

The villain had stopped Mrs. Blackmore and son Herbert near the mill and asked the direction of the show grounds, and then followed them until near the bridge, when he came up as if to pass by, grabbed her purse and after a struggle broke the wrist strap and fled with the purse. FAREWELL SERMON DRAWS LARGE CROWD LAST NIGHT

The immense audience which filled Grace M. E. church to overflowing Sunday night, to hear Rev. F. E. Ross deliver his farewell sermon was a glowing manifestation of the esteem in which he is held by Washington citizens, and the text upon which he spoke briefly was: "I have finished the work which Thou gavest me to do."

Not only was the Grace church congregation present enmasse, but scores of representatives from other churches were in attendance, and following the services a half hour was occupied in bidding farewell to Rev. Ross, and scores of eyes were filled with tears as the people turned away after a parting grasp of the hand.

WASHINGTON IS ON BIG HIGHWAY CONTEMPLATED

According to dispatches in Sunday's papers, Washington is located upon the connecting link highway between Cincinnati, Columbus and Cleveland, which it is proposed to improve at the earliest possible moment, and it is expected that Fayette county's aid will be enlisted in the general movement to make the highway first class in every detail.

The road in question is the Columbus pike and the Wilmington pike, commonly known as Main Market road No. 10, and should the plan be carried out as announced, this city will see thousands of auto tourists each year who now go elsewhere.

The plan is to enlist every county through which the road passes and pave the road from Cleveland to Cincinnati, so that it will offer an unbroken thoroughfare and solve the problem for thousands of persons who wish to pass between the various cities by automobile.

PENDING TREATIES WILL BE TAKEN UP

President Wilson to Call the Senate In Extra Session.

WILL CONVEY IN OCTOBER

Proposed Pact With Colombia Which Aroused the Most Vigorous Opposition at the Recent Session, Among the Treaties to Be Disposed Of. Plan For American Protectorate Over Haiti Also to Come Up.

Washington, Sept. 20.—President Wilson may call the senate in extra session next month for the consideration of pending treaties.

Senator Stone of Missouri, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, arrived in Washington and will have a conference with the president on the subject of an extra session of the senate for this purpose. It is thought probable that some announcement will be forthcoming after the senator's visit to the White House.

The treaties pending are those with Colombia and Nicaragua. They were both vigorously opposed during the last congress. It is expected that if a special session is called for the consideration of these treaties the administration will also place before the senate the treaty with Haiti, signed last week, providing for an United States protectorate over the negro republic.

SEVERAL BATTLES RECORDED

Citizens, Patrols and Rangers in Hidalgo and Cameron Counties in Texas Engage Marauding Bands in Gun Conflicts — American Shot From His Horse While Pursuing the Raiders.

Galveston, Tex., Sept. 20.—The calm following the battle between Mexicans and Americans at Dona last Friday was broken Sunday when three different marauding bands of Mexicans clashed with as many citizens, patrols and Texas rangers in Hidalgo and Cameron counties. As a result, Lynn Fitzsimmons, a ranch employe near Armstrong, was killed. Seven Mexicans are known to be dead and reports are that other bodies will be found.

Fitzsimmons was killed when seven bandits attacked near Martin's ranch. He became over anxious in chasing fleeing Mexicans and was shot from his horse. Three Mexicans were killed in this battle, the others escaping in the cactus.

It became known here that many senators have been under the definite impression that the president would convene the upper house one or two months earlier than the date for the regular session of congress, the first Monday in December. Senator Fletcher of Florida, who was in Washington last week, informed friends that it was the general expectation that the senate would be convened in advance of the regular session. Senator Kern, majority leader in the senate, has for some time been urging that the senate be assembled early for the purpose of passing a cloture rule.

Of the treaties now pending, that with Colombia has attracted the most attention and aroused the most vigorous opposition. This treaty, negotiated in Bogota last year, provides for the payment of the sum of $20,000,000 to Colombia, in compensation for the losses suffered by the South American republic through the separation of Panama. In article 1 it makes this important concession to the feelings of the Colombians:

"The government of the United States of America, wishing to put at rest all controversies and differences with the republic of Colombia arising out of the events from which the present situation on the isthmus of Panama resulted, expresses on its own part and in the name of the people of the United States sincere regret that anything should have occurred to interrupt or mar the relations of cordial friendship that have so long existed between the two nations."

It was this "expression of regret" which resulted in such a storm of disapproval from Colonel Roosevelt and his friends.

Two Mexicans were killed in the Dona district. These were approaching the pumping station. When citizens, who thought the bandits meant to dynamite the station, ordered them to halt, the Mexicans attempted to escape and were killed.

There was another fight in the Dona country. Rangers and citizens located some fifteen Mexicans near a ranch house. A running fight ensued in which two Mexicans were killed and two wounded. The bandits were pursued but escaped.

South of Chapin twenty miles, another band of Mexicans was sighted. Others were seen near San Benito and Rinklod, and ranches in these sections called for help, which could not be furnished because of location. The citizens are armed, however, and little fear is felt for their safety.

There was some firing on the river north of Brownsville, but late reports mention no deaths.

Two Mexican girls, Marie Gonzales and Julia Zapata, were each wounded by a party of Mexicans, who, passing in an automobile, fired into their house, near Brownsville.

STEAMER AFIRE

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 20.—Wireless messages brought word of the burning of a steamer at sea, but left in doubt the identity of the vessel. The steamer was described first as the Dorlandson liner Athenia, but subsequent messages indicated that the burning vessel might be the Greek steamship Athina, bound from New York for Piraeus. The steamer was abandoned by the crew.

BRYAN RAPS PREPAREDNESS

Boston, Sept. 20.—Ten thousand people sat in the spacious grandstand at the National League club's ball park and heard William J. Bryan lecture on the war and its lessons. They heard the former secretary laud President Wilson, criticize the advocates of greater preparedness, deplore the folly and horror of the European war, lambast the jingoes, and remark that "it was lucky we did not have a jingo president with a hair trigger temper in the White House."

"There are those in this country," said Mr. Bryan, "who propose to prevent war by preparing for it. If there had not been so much preparation, there would have been no war in Europe today. And, my friends, I believe if we had been prepared as some of those people would like to have us we would be in this war now."

Watertown, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Secretary of State Robert Lansing, on reaching his summer home at Henderson Harbor, declared that he had no information to give out and had come here only to rest. New York, Sept. 20.—Secret service agents made what William Flynn, chief of the secret service, says is one of the most important arrests that the department has made in years. Four men, charged with counterfeiting $2 internal revenue stamps, were captured just as they were getting them in readiness to put in circulation. One of the men was caught with a bundle of the counterfeited stamps just as he was leaving a printing office to take them to a place where they were to be distributed. All are at police headquarters.

Cleveland, Sept. 20.—With the announcement of the personnel of the dry campaign committee for Cuyahoga county it was stated that the campaign will begin at once and that it will exceed in energy the campaign of 1914. Newspaper Advertising

Goes direct to the people and the people constitute the buying public. Newspaper advertising not only talks but it emphasizes; it has the undivided attention of the reader and covers a field no salesman can hope to reach. There are many styles in newspaper advertising and the small announcement, which costs only five cents, is just as effective in its way as the larger one, which costs proportionately more. The benefits to be derived can not be measured by the size of the ad, for the very good reason that the small, inexpensive announcement invariably proves effective. Newspaper advertising costs from five cents up to any price the advertiser desires to pay.

Bowser Gets Muddled

And He Gets Mad at Being Unmuddled.

By M. QUAD.
Copyright, 1915, by McClure News-Paper Syndicate.

Soon after dinner the other evening Mr. Bowser had a caller. The stranger was taken into the library, and after half an hour's conversation he left the house, and Mr. Bowser came out into the sitting room to say:

"Mrs. Bowser, that was a gentleman appointed by the P. C. to wait on me with a request."

"But what is the P. C.?" asked Mrs. Bowser.

"Why, it's the 'Preoccupied club,' of course."

"That's a funny name for a club. What are they preoccupied about?"

"I am not a member and have never visited the club and therefore can't tell you. I understand, however, that they sit around with folded arms and their eyes on the ceiling and think about most everything that has occurred since the time of Adam and Eve. They want me to join and I probably shall."

"I would if I were you," said Mrs. Bowser, "and I'd sit and think of how Cain killed Abel and how Moses was hidden in the bulrushes. Your caller came to invite you to become a member, I suppose?"

"Well, not exactly. He came to invite me to deliver the annual address, which is made before the club once a year. I will now go back to the library and make a start toward composing the address."

"But tell me what is going to be the title of your address, providing you live to finish it."

"It will probably be 'Have Any Really Great Men Lived Up to This Time?' What do you think of such a title?"

"I think you will name several hundred great men who have lived and made the world greater for their living."

Mr. Bowser looked doubtful about it, but went to the library without answering. An hour passed away. No one called to disturb him. He was so very quiet during this hour that Mrs. Bowser laid aside her book and opened the door to find him scratching his head for a thought and nibbling at the end of his pencil. He had only written down the title.

"Why, what is the matter?" she asked.

"For some reason or other," he replied, "I don't seem to catch on. Maybe I am unusually dull tonight."

"Let me help you."

He looked at her with a helpless look, and after some hesitation he asked:

"If you help me to start the address are you going to claim the credit of it?"

"No, of course not. I want you to get the full honors of it."

"Very well; that's fair of you. You know, Mrs. Bowser, that I am a plain man. I hadn't much chance for education during my young days. Ever since our marriage I have been mighty busy trying to make a living and something over."

"I know, dear," she said as she laid her hand on his head.

"I have read some books, but not many, and don't clearly remember what I have read. I don't want to make any mistake in this address, and I shan't if you will help me. I used to know who discovered America as well as I know my own father. It wasn't Shakespeare, was it?"

"Lands, no! It was Columbus."

"So it was. The name comes back to me now. He is called a great man, isn't he?"

"Of course. It surely was a great thing."

"But I don't see it in that light," said Mr. Bowser, with considerable vigor. "If I remember aright he simply sailed to the west from Spain until he bumped up against the shores of America. When he wanted to return to Spain he simply had to sail to the east. Couldn't Tom Jones or Bill Brown have done the same thing? Of course they could, and I shall put him down as a very common man. Who was it wrote Shakespeare?"

"Why, Shakespeare himself, of course," smiled Mrs. Bowser.

"What is there great about it?"

"It is great in sentiment, great in thought and one of the greatest literary productions that the world has ever had."

"I fail to see it," grimly replied Mr. Bowser. "I never heard yet that it was a great thing to sit down and write a book or half a dozen of them. You have your library, pen and ink and paper, and nothing to worry about. You can write for an hour or two and then stroll around. You can write by day or by night. I don't want to be too hard on Mr. Shakespeare, but it's my opinion that the man who invented the teakettle was the greater man of the two."

"Well, you have a right to your opinion in the matter," said Mrs. Bowser as she turned her head to keep her face straight.

"Wasn't there a man in olden days named Cicero?" was asked after a minute.

"There was."

"What line was he great in?"

"He was a statesman and an orator."

"Humph! He didn't invent anything? It wasn't he that first brought out the wheelbarrow, the spade or the crowbar?"

"I don't think so."

"Well, down he goes among the common men. How he got his reputation for being great I cannot see. I've heard that there was a great philosopher named Desetigonese. What about him. Did he invent the shotgun or the long handled shovel?"

"My dear, you ought to be better posted about these things," said Mrs. Bowser. "It was Diogenes who sat in a tub on the street corner and expounded philosophy to the public. There were times when he went about by daylight with a lantern in his hand. When asked why the lantern he replied that he was looking for an honest man."

"Why, he must have been a darned old idiot!" exclaimed Mr. Bowser, as he pounded on his desk. "I shall put him down as a n. g. Now, then, what about Caesar?"

"There were several Caesars, Mr. Bowser. Which one do you mean?"

"I don't know. I thought there wasn't but one, and I think I have heard him referred to as being great. What was he great about?"

"Well, either Augustus or Julius was great in war and the politics of their time. They were rulers, you know."

"But, to come down to brass tacks, what did they do for humanity? What did they do to make the world brighter and better? There was need of a coffee-pot. Did they invent one? Did they give us a burglar alarm? Did they inform the world at large that it took three hours longer to digest cooked cabbage than it did if eaten in its raw state? Did they bring out the horseshoe? Did they even invent the shoestring or the darned needle?"

"I guess not," was the faint reply.

"If I were you I wouldn't try to write an address."

"But why?" demanded Mr. Bowser.

"Because you are all muddled up about the great men of the past. You might get Frederick the Great mixed up with Captain Kidd. It's unfortunate that you have not read more history, but, at the same time, you are not to blame for it. The way out of it is to excuse yourself from delivering the address."

"Look here, Mrs. Bowser, how do you happen to know all these things?" demanded Mr. Bowser, as he began to flush up.

"Why, I learned most of them at school and have read more or less history since I was a pupil."

"You and the world call such old back numbers as Alexander the Great tipsters, do you?"

"Of course they were great. I have fully explained their greatness to you. You will find their great deeds in the histories we have got in the house. Why don't you take a week reading up on them before you try this address? I was reading 'Paradise Lost' before I came in here. You know who wrote it, don't you?"

"No," was thundered.

"It was Milton."

"I don't care a hang if it was Milton or Texas Pete. He goes down on my list of a n. g.'s."

"But I will get you one of the histories from the bookcase."

"You needn't tire yourself, Mrs. Bowser. I am going out for a walk, and if I hear any one say that Napoleon was a great man I'll punch his head!"

"And the address?" queried Mrs. Bowser.

"It can go to Halifax."

Mr. Bowser stamped out of the house and was gone an hour. As he did not return with a black eye and two front teeth missing it was presumed that he did not meet with a man who had words of praise for Napoleon. Neither, perhaps, did he meet with a man who asserted that there was one great man now living who overshadowed all the great men of the past and that his name was—Samuel Bowser.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Marysville, O., Sept. 20.—Joseph Leroy, thirty-five, of Toledo, was killed at Arnold by a freight train while asleep on the ties.

The New York Times urges a state constabulary to combat with turbulent strikers instead of the national guard. Training the guardsmen for soldier duty would add to the efficiency of the establishment for national defense. The purpose of the guard in the new order of things is to supplement the regular army in time of war. To this end the guardsman should have a different ideal from that which evolves from dealing with street mobs. In war he will confront well trained and well armed soldiers, not to be overawed by a mere show of bayonet and uniform. The guard will always be recruited from the ranks of wage earners, and it is folly to expect that a man will march out with strikers in the morning, then don a uniform and shoe down his fellow workmen in the afternoon.

China had been a monarchy so many thousand years that the people have the inborn habit of yielding to iron-clad rule. The sole reason that the monarchy had to go a few years since was that the dynasty stood for the worst tyranny and corruption imaginable. Not the monarchy, but the system, was out of place in the modern world.

It is said that England wants to store $500,000,000 in gold in the strong boxes of New York. That's taking a bigger risk on our national defenses than some critics would stand for.

Haiti has no high cost of living problem, for food grows to hand, so people can plot revolution while waiting for the stuff to drop into their mouths.

If the United States prepares for war in the old way it may find itself handicapped in fighting an army right up to date in new methods and equipments.

STAN ARTHUR'S AGGREGATION SHOWERED WITH GOOSE EGGS

Athletics Treat Clintons to a Neat Shut Out--Reis and Heironimus Perform Remarkably at Slab--Excited Crowd Swarms Field on Close Decision--Cotterill in Clinton Togs.

Wonderful pitching by Jack Reis, and good base running with timely hits effected a victory for the Athletics Sunday afternoon, over the Wilmington Clintons at Athletic park. The score was 3 to 0.

In the matter of errors the Athletics had more than their share, but the fielding staff always managed to tighten up when necessity pressed hardest.

Reis pitched one of the best games of ball ever seen on a Washington diamond. Time and again Wilmington hopes were nipped clean by his extraordinary twirling. The work of Heironimus was scarcely less commendable. His pitching was excellent and he accomplished the remarkable record of eight assists, one a double play and stopped two hits with his good left paw.

A thousand fans saw the game and spirit was at its high water mark. A close decision nearly precipitated a riot, at one time, and Mayor Coffey and four policemen had their hands full quieting the crowd.

The umpiring of Manning of Springfield was generally approved and was as near a strict book-of-rules enforcement as ever witnessed on a local ball game. During the general argument which followed a close decision at the plate, when Noon scored the Athletics' first run in the fourth, Second Baseman Chapman of the Clintons got a little too vociferous, and was ordered to the bench by Umpire Manning, and finally had to be quelled by the police. Chapman was allowed by Manning to go back into the game, at the intercession of the Washington management.

The honors now stand even, each team having won one game in the series of four.

Pitcher Cotterill, who has been twirling for Washington all season, created a sensation by appearing in a Wilmington uniform. He did not get into the game, however, Heironimus staying the nine innings.

Following is the way the runs were scored:

FIFTH INNING.

Grandle grounded to Chapman, out at first; Noon was hit by Heironimus and stole second; Lewis struck out; Jones singled, scoring Noon; Jones was put out at second.

SIXTH INNING.

Hungeling hit past third for two bases. Reis bunted to Adams who threw wild to third attempting to catch Hungeling and Hungeling scored; Underwood was safe on Chapman's error; Corwin fled to center; Reis scoring on the throw in; Runnels popped to Chapman; Grandle grounded to Heironimus, out at first. One hit, two errors, two runs.

The box score follows:

THIRTEEN PLAYS PART IN BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT

Unlucky thirteen plays a prominent part in a $5,000 breach of promise suit launched in the common pleas court Monday afternoon, in which Eliza J. Dwyre is plaintiff and John Fletcher Zimmerman is the defendant.

The hoodoo number is mentioned no less than four times in the petition. The plaintiff claims that on the 13th of January, 1912 that she, upon request of the defendant, promised to marry him, and that on or about March 7, 1913 the marriage was set for March 26, 1913, but defendant failed to wed her, and although she has since been willing and ready to marry the defendant, he has failed to keep his promise.

Plaintiff claims that as a result she has been damaged to the extent of $5,000, for which sum she asks damages.

WOULD END ALL CLASHES ON BORDER

By Associated Press.
Brownsville, Texas, September 20. --General Trevino Carranza, commander of the department of the northeast of Mexico, arrived in Matamoros today from Monterey, and according to reports here, will try to reach an understanding with United States military authorities which would eliminate future friction and fighting across the international boundary.

Mexican circles saw, in the general's arrival, another effort by Carranza leaders to strengthen their position in the eyes of the pan-American conferees.

After Uncle Sam has pacified Mexico he may feel big enough for that world peace job.

DUMBA TO SAIL SEPT. 28

New York, September 20. --It was learned today that Dr. Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador whose recall was asked by President Wilson, has reserved passage on the steamer Rotterdam, which sails from this port Tuesday, September 28.

If one-half that Carranza and Villa say of each other is the truth our watchful waiting policy will require an injecting of ginger in it before Mexico can pacify itself.

United States dollars command a bigger premium abroad than ever before, but no one relishes the job of going over to collect it.

LOCALS TAKE FIRST GAME OF THE SEASON

Washington C. H., football warriors, in the first game played this season by the new team, wrested victory from the Xenia team on its own field, by a score of 2 to 0.

The field was wet and in bad condition when the game was called at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. Xenia won the toss and chose south goal.

Gregg kicked off to Smith and a run of 10 yards was made.

The ball stayed in Xenia's territory during the first half of the game, when the only score, a safety, was made.

Washington rushed the ball to goal in the last few minutes of the first half and lost it when penalized. Xenia attempted to kick and was tackled back to goal line, leaving the score at the end of the first half 2 to 0 in favor of Washington.

In the last half Xenia kicked off to Willis, who made a 10 yard run down the line. Again the ball stayed in Xenia's territory, until the game was called on the 20 yard line. Throughout the game was marked by a large number of penalties against the local team. Although it was the first game played by the newly organized 1915 team, it was the first time W. H. S. has been able to defeat Xenia in four years.

The 1915 team looks good to be a winner. Next Saturday it plays Xenia on the local field.

The Washington team lined up as follows: Moore, captain and tackle; Ross, left end; Wetzel, left guard; Beck, center; Hoppes, right guard; Dick Willis, tackle; Harper, right end; Gregg, quarter back; Craig, left half back; McDonald, right half back; Strevey, full back; Subs.; Evans, right end; McFadden, half back; Daugherty, left end.

McFadden substituted in fourth quarter.

Haley and McDonald refereed and Vannorsdall was field judge.

VILNA IN HANDS OF THE GERMANS

Important Railroad Center Lost to the Russians.

CZAR'S SOLDIERS IN DANGER

In Triangular Position and Nearly Surrounded and Must Fight Their Way Out—Minor Victories On the Western Front Claimed by Each Side—British Gain at the Dardanelles.

London, Sept. 20.—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's army has occupied Vilna, an important railroad center, and by a wide sweeping movement to the north of that city has succeeded in almost if not entirely surrounding a portion of the Russian army which is fighting in the railway triangle between Vilna, Lida and Vileika.

At any rate the Russian forces in this district either must fight their way out eastward or retire in a southeasterly direction, for the only railway left entirely in their hands is that which runs from Vilna to Lida and thence to Baranovitch.

The army of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, which took Vilna and has reached Vileika to the east of Vilna, is working in close co-operation with forces of Arch Duke Leopold of Bavaria in an effort to catch a part of the Russian army, an operation which has been so often tried without success since the Austro-Germans commenced their drive in western Galicia in early May.

At the southern end of the line General Ivanoff is still keeping Field

Marshal Von Mackensen at arm's length from the fortress of Rovno, the key to the route to Kiev, and in counter attacks has retaken a number of villages both in Volhynia and Galicia.

It seems apparent from the inability of the Austro-Germans to hold their position in the southern area that they have sent reinforcements from that front to Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's northern army, which, as heretofore, is expected to score the biggest success.

Vilna is a city of some 170,000 inhabitants on the Warsaw-Petrograd railway line and has been the object of a German offensive movement for weeks past in the course of the widespread operations of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg on the northern end of the extended battle line in the east.

Both the Germans and the French claim minor victories on the western front, but neither there nor in the Italian theater have any events of great moment been reported.

A Dardanelles correspondent reports the capture by the British of Hill No. 60, an important ridge on the Gallipoli peninsula. He states that the Turks in this engagement lost 5,000 men.

board on Oct. 5 prepared to make recommendations. Mr. Daniels is particularly anxious to get estimates as to the amount of money needed for such a building and its equipment, so that he can prepare a recommendation to congress for an appropriation.

In his letter and his comment on the letter Mr. Daniels points out that the navy is now poorly equipped for the proper conduct of the experimental and development work which it is constantly carrying on. In some special lines the navy is better equipped than any commercial establishment, but in others it is far behind in facilities for developing its projects and, in the secretary's opinion, there is a lack of the necessary co-ordination of all officers in this direction.

AGAINST WAR

New York, Sept. 20.—Workers for the Church Peace union are getting ready to wage a campaign throughout the country against war in the future. The campaigners will be known as the flying squadron and, starting from New York and Philadelphia, they will hold mass meetings in all the cities and towns within a radius of 100 miles.

The announcement of the campaign came from the headquarters of the union, which is the $2,000,000 foundation established last year by Andrew Carnegie to promote the cause of peace through church organizations, of which Bishop Greer is the president.

Uppermost in the work of the campaign will be the getting of signatures to a petition to be sent to President Wilson and congress, declaring, among other things, for the reduction of armaments of all nations as rapidly as possible, though "not ignoring the needs of national security and defense while such reduction is being made."

It is expected that several thousand ministers of all denominations will take part in the campaign.

DEATH COMES IN ENGLAND

New York, Sept. 20.—The death of Mrs. Maldwin Drummond, formerly of Chicago, at her estate, Cadland, near Southampton, England, was announced in a cablegram received here. Marshall Field 3d, her son and his wife, sailed from here on the liner St. Louis for Liverpool.

Mrs. Drummond, who was formerly Mrs. Marshall Field, was known on both sides of the Atlantic for the splendor of her entertainments. Before her marriage to Marshall Field, Jr., son of Marshall Field, founder of the great Chicago department store, Mrs. Drummond was Miss Albertine Huck, a daughter of Louis D. Huck, a Chicago maltster. Three children, Marshall Field, 3d, Henry Field and Gwendolyn Field, who are among the richest children in America, were born to her. Mrs. Drummond was married to Mr. Drummond in 1908.

ILLEGIT STILL IS RAIDED

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 20.—United States revenue officers discovered a large plant for making "moonshine" whisky on United States Senator Hoke Smith's country place near Atlanta. The still was a large one and there were indications that a quantity of whisky has been made in the last twenty-four hours. No one was found at the still when the revenue officials made the raid. The "moonshine" plant was located within 300 yards of Senator Smith's residence and 500 yards from the home of United States Attorney Hooper Alexander, who is a radical prohibitionist. Senator Smith signed the Georgia statewide prohibition law when he was governor.

SUB. RESTS AT BOTTOM OF SEA

New York, Sept. 20.—That the submarine which destroyed the steamship New York City last month is herself now resting on the bottom of the sea is the statement made in a letter made public by Captain Thomas Fleming Day of New York city, which he received from the skipper of the lost vessel. The New York City's captain was Horace Barclay and in his message he tells graphically of the pursuit by the undersea craft and of the methods employed by the Germans, which later in the day resulted in the loss of the submarine on the approach of a British patrol.

Rev. Ross Leaves

When the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, meeting in Columbus last week, saw fit, in its wisdom, to transfer Rev. F. E. Ross from Grace church, this city, to Ironton, is granted a promotion fully merited by Rev. Ross. Washington, however, lost one of the ablest, one of the kindest and most agreeable men, who ever occupied a pulpit here and this city has been particularly fortunate in the men who have graced the pulpits of the city churches.

Rev. Ross is a deep student of the Bible, an exceedingly entertaining instructor in the Sunday school room and a preacher whose logic and eloquence are at once convincing and charming.

He was possessed, too, of an exceedingly likely personality, at ease in any gathering, thoroughly and pleasingly democratic in his manners and habits and informed upon every issue of importance.

Rev. Ross' influence for good in this community was not confined to the membership of his church. Every man, whether enrolled as a member of any church or not, enjoyed his call and he made many of them during his residence here.

Washington regrets to lose Rev. Ross. His term of service here will long remain a pleasant memory.

His successor, Rev. J. V. Stone, will be cordially welcomed by our citizens who, judging from the reputation which precedes him, will be able to take up the splendid work which Mr. Ross so ably carried on.

Important Work?

Auditor of State Donahey and Attorney General Turner are again occupying considerable space in the newspapers. The former asked of the latter an opinion concerning the possibility that the state would be liable to ousted department employees in the event the Supreme Court held the present civil-service law unconstitutional.

The attorney general injected some veiled sarcasm in his opinion when he suggested that the question were more imaginary than real and that the auditor was perfectly safe in paying the employees who actually performed the work.

The auditor of state didn't take kindly to having his request made light of and for that reason refused to follow it.

Thus the people of Ohio are afforded another opportunity of seeing a tempest in a tea pot. All because of the chaotic condition of the public service of the state and the unseemly scramble for place.

About nine tenths of the effort of the state officials these days seems to be exerted toward assisting fellow partisans to break into a job.

Service to the public seems to be secondary to the task of assisting some co-worker in his endeavor to become one of those who draw money from the public treasury.

Both the attorney general and the auditor of state could be occupying their time in work vastly more important.

End of a Summer of War

With the summer campaigns of the European war drawing to their close the advantage, at this time, seems all to be with the Teutonic allies.

Russia has been driven back at tremendous cost and Galicia and Poland are now securely in the possession of Germany and Austria, with every probability that they will so remain until well into the campaigns of next summer. The Russian armies are disorganized and discouraged, the Russian people feel humiliated and rebellious, while the charges that the lack of ammunition and arms with which to stay the German advance was due to corruption in official circles seems to have sufficient basis in fact to justify the fear that conditions which brought about Russia's humiliation in the war with Japan have not been relieved.

England, France, Belgium and Italy seem barely able to retain their defensive attitude on the west front. England is facing conscription because the people of Great Britain seem unable or unwilling to realize the gravity of the situation.

France and Belgium have been pressed to the limit and cannot be expected to do more than they have done. Italy is straining every resource to maintain a comparatively feeble advance against Austria. Bulgaria still maintains a neutral-ity despite rumors of an alliance with first one and then the other of the warring nations. The Dardanelles are as yet secure in the grasp of the fanatical Turk and his allies, and so far resist successfully every attack both on land and sea.

The coming of winter, which has already been heralded by the heavy rains in Russia, may bring revolt among the Slav people against their government or the mutterings of discontent may drive the Czar to accept separate peace.

On the other hand, the Teutons are hopeful of final victory, and flushed with the brilliant successes of their armies in the field, are willing and anxious to endure the hardships and heartaches which war imposes upon them.

Poetry For Today

FATE'S WAY.

Two shall be born the whole wide world apart,
And speak in different tongues, and have no thought
Each of the other's being, and no heed;
And these o'er unknown seas to unknown lands
Shall cross, escaping wreck, defying death;
And all unconsciously shape every act
And bend each wandering step to this one end—
That one day on a curve they'll smash their cars,
Head on, and go to glory, neck and neck!

And two shall keep their cars in one garage,
And daily wrangle o'er the style and worth
Of their respective makes, and of the brand
Of gas and oil they use; and they shall race
On long, wide country roads and narrow lanes;
And call each other names that Webster bars
The while they jockey ruthlessly to force
Each other into ditch or fence; and yet
Shall never graze a hub nor black an eye!

LUKE MCLUKE SAYS

The old fashioned dude who used to soap his bangs so they would lie flat down on his forehead now has a son who combs his hair so he will look like a sea lion.

A woman gets so little pleasure that if she didn't get to talk about what she is going to do she wouldn't have any fun at all.

After looking over some of the fool laws made by the state legislature a man finds it an easy matter to keep the Ten Commandments.

Before he gets her he would kiss the ground she walks on. After he gets her he gets mad if he has to wipe his face on the same towel she dried her face on.

A woman with a face like a dried herring gets as much pleasure out of admiring the bats in the window of a millinery store as a pretty girl does.

It takes more than the knowledge that she is a grandma to make a woman quit feeling giddy these days.

A man is almost as inconsistent as a woman. If she wants nice clothes he kicks, and if she looks shabby when she goes out he kicks.

Some of the old saws will have to be revamped. Lots of people marry at leisure and repent in haste.

If we didn't have the weather to talk about this country would be spared about 78,643,521,497,634 yards of unnecessary conversation every day.

Anyway, it is better to go down to defeat with a clear conscience than to climb to victory and not be able to sleep at night.

Do not take yourself seriously. The world is laughing at you oftener than it is laughing with you.

A woman at a bargain sale always acts as if there is never going to be another one.

BIG CIRCUS IS HERE AND MAMMOTH CROWDS ATTEND

Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus Arrives Sunday Afternoon and Big Crowd Watches Unloading—Magnificent Pageant—Monster Crowd Attends Afternoon Performance and Another Equally Large Audience Expected Tonight.

With bands trumpeting, clowns shouting, lions roaring, and red wagons rumbling, the gorgeous and fantastic street pageant of the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace circus passed over the principal downtown streets of Washington C. H., this morning while thousands lined the streets, curbs and crowded office windows in an effort to get a glimpse of the shop the barbers found no idle moments.

In the library tent were many performers reading the daily newspapers and magazines. One little English girl, was writing to her brother now at the front in France with the allies. Some of the women of the circus found time after breakfast to do a little knitting for the soldiers.

The afternoon crowd was a mammoth one and utmost satisfaction was expressed over the hundreds of attractions offered and the high standard of the performance generally.

Several Washington C. H. boys are with the big circus, among them being Billie Backenstoe, who has charge of the reserve seats, and "Pat" Burke, who is general manager of all tickets. Both men have been with the show for several years and parade. What they saw and heard was not disappointing. It was one of the biggest and best street parades ever seen in the city.

Nearly eighteen nationalities were represented in the pageant; music of their native lands was played on fife, sylvan, tom tom, drums and harps. Military bands yielded circus melodies and there were two immense steam calliopes which played such tunes as "Back to the Carolina I Love," "When You Were a Tulip," etc. There were upwards of a hundred mounted knights and ladies in costume of court.

The Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus reached Washington C. H. Sunday afternoon. The three long trains of yellow cars were shunted into convenient sidings of the C. H. & D. railroad yards and soon the work of unloading began. As fast as the great red and yellow wagons were rolled from the flat cars, teams of powerful draft horses hauled them to the circus grounds. The first wagon to be unloaded was the one containing the immense steel cooking ranges, which was followed by the refrigerator and other wagons pertaining to the cook house.

On the circus grounds the tents began to nose their way into the air like some giant Aladdin like palace. The cook tents and canvas hotels were erected first, for food must await the hungry army of showmen on the way. Dinner was ready at 5 o'clock.

At the circus grounds thousands flocked about to catch the marvelous business system which prevailed. Towering center poles were pulled into the air by teams of horses. The little steam stake driver hummed merrily. Over in the circus barber are classed among the big organization's most valuable men.

The Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus tonight. The doors will be opened at 7 o'clock and the performance will begin an hour later. A downtown ticket agency is in operation at Blackmer & Tanquary's drug store. The circus will depart shortly after midnight for Lancaster where two performances will be given tomorrow.

Another performance will be given by the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus tonight. The doors will be opened at 7 o'clock and the performance will begin an hour later. A downtown ticket agency is in operation at Blackmer & Tanquary's drug store. The circus will depart shortly after midnight for Lancaster where two performances will be given tomorrow.

2000 LOADS OF GRAVEL DISTRIBUTED

In Paint township last week the new road law was given a thorough test, and 2,000 loads of gravel were distributed upon the roads of that township, under the direction of four Road Superintendents recently chosen by the trustees of that township.

The superintendents appointed are Clell Allen, Lennie Long, Ray Long and Henry Raider. By having four superintendents it is possible to work many more men than under one superintendent, and one day 40 wagons were hauling gravel from the pit to the road.

The trustees, Al Smith, Howard Foster and Robert Pummell, are greatly pleased with results of the new method of superintending road construction.

LOST GIRL RESTORED TO ARMS OF MOTHER

The little six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Steward, residing in the southern part of the city, became confused while on her way home from school Monday morning and wandered in the opposite direction from home.

Chief Moore was notified and by taking the child in a rig and driving along the streets, he finally located the little tot's mother, who was overjoyed in having her child restored in safety.

CASE DISMISSED BY JUDGE CRAIG

The trial of Gerald Cartwright, charged with entering the residence of a Mrs. Dowler, near the old gas house, was heard before Justice T. N. Craig, Saturday afternoon, proving a case with somewhat unusual features.

After a full hearing of the case the charges against Cartwright were dismissed.

DARING ROBBERY OCCURS ON SOUTH FAYETTE STREET

Mrs. Orie Blackmore Is Held Up by Dusky Highwayman, Who Snatches Purse, and After Breaking Strap Flees With Some $12—Considerable Excitement Results.

Great excitement was occasioned on South Fayette street, near the Paint creek bridge, Saturday night between nine and ten o'clock, when some unknown colored man robbed Mrs. Orie Blackmore, by seizing her purse containing some $12 in currency and silver.

The villain had stopped Mrs. Blackmore and son Herbert near the mill and asked the direction of the show grounds, and then followed them until near the bridge, when he came up as if to pass by, grabbed her purse and after a struggle broke the wrist strap and fled with the purse. Mrs. Blackmore's screams and those of her son quickly brought assistance to the scene and within a few minutes a half hundred people were searching for the scoundrel, and if he had been captured the punishment meted out would have been most drastic.

The police were notified and have made and are still making every effort to locate the man, a description of whom was given by Mrs. Blackmore's son, who was sure he could identify the fellow if he ever laid eyes upon him again.

Mrs. Blackmore suffered greatly from nervous shock, and it was necessary to call physicians to attend her.

Mrs. Blackmore's son struck the rascal in the face with a sack of candy while the fellow was pulling for possession of the purse.

The affair has caused no little apprehension upon the part of a large number of women in the city, as the robbery occurred within a very short distance of the main part of the city.

FUNERAL SERVICES LARGELY ATTENDED

The funeral services of Mrs. Parthenia Rankin were very largely attended at the Milledgeville Baptist church Sunday afternoon.

Elder Walter Yeoman officiated and a male quartet furnished the music.

The pallbearers were grandsons Messrs Ralph and Glenn Allen, of this city, Willard Creamer, Harry Allen, Howard and Frank Smith.

All of Mrs. Rankin's living children were at the funeral. The interment was made in the family lot in the Milledgeville cemetery.

Mrs. Cordelia Yeoman, of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Arley Woods, of Mt. Sterling were out of town guests.

HOUSE IS SAVED; WILL REBUILD BARN

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barnes, both of whom were stunned by the thunder bolt, are almost fully recovered.

FAREWELL SERMON DRAWS LARGE CROWD LAST NIGHT

The immense audience which filled Grace M. E. church to overflowing Sunday night, to hear Rev. F. E. Ross deliver his farewell sermon was a glowing manifestation of the esteem in which he is held by Washington citizens, and the text upon which he spoke briefly was: "I have finished the work which Thou gavest me to do."

Not only was the Grace church congregation present en masse, but scores of representatives from other churches were in attendance, and following the services a half hour was occupied in bidding farewell to Rev. Ross, and scores of eyes were filled with tears as the people turned away after a parting grasp of the hand.

Rev. Ross preached his first sermon in the Ironton church Sunday morning, in the presence of a large audience, and during his brief visit there met hundreds of members of his new flock.

By rushing back to Chillicothe and being met there by friends in an automobile, he was able to reach this city at 7:30, and weary and without supper, he faced the trying ordeal of delivering his last message to the Grace church congregation.

His message was one which left a deep impression upon those who heard it. He expressed his pleasure at having been permitted to mingle with and minister to the local congregation, and spoke of the hundreds of warm friends whom he must soon bid farewell. His closing words were of the Old Veterans, who had been so close to him, and of the great class of men he has taught the past two years.

Sunday morning a farewell letter from the pastor to the Men's Bible class was read, and this was ordered spread upon the minutes of the class, and a vote of thanks extended to the departing teacher. Other business was transacted which later will show the loyalty of the class to Rev. Ross.

Rev. Ross and family leave Friday morning. Tomorrow night a reception will be given in their honor, at the church.

WASHINGTON IS ON BIG HIGHWAY CONTEMPLATED

According to dispatches in Sunday's papers, Washington is located upon the connecting link highway between Cincinnati, Columbus and Cleveland, which it is proposed to improve at the earliest possible moment, and it is expected that Fayette county's aid will be enlisted in the general movement to make the highway first class in every detail.

The road in question is the Columbus pike and the Wilmington pike, commonly known as Main Market road No. 10, and should the plan be carried out as announced, this city will see thousands of auto tourists each year who now go elsewhere.

The plan is to enlist every county through which the road passes and pave the road from Cleveland to Cincinnati, so that it will offer an unbroken thoroughfare and solve the problem for thousands of persons who wish to pass between the various cities by automobile.

W. A. Alsdorf, Secretary of the Ohio Good Roads Federation, and Fred H. Caley, Secretary of the Ohio State Automobile Association and the Cleveland Automobile Club, during this week will traverse the entire length of Main Market Road No. 10, which is the route proposed, to secure exact information as to the physical condition of every mile of the way.

As designated in the State good roads law enacted two years ago, Main Market Road No. 10 starts at Cleveland and runs through Cuyahoga, Medina, Wayne, Holmes, Ashland, Knox, Delaware, Franklin, Pickaway, Fayette, Clinton, Warren, and Hamilton counties. Between Cleveland and Cincinnati it passes through the cities of Medina, Wooster, Mt. Vernon, Delaware, Columbus, Washington C. H. and Wilmington.

For scenery it is declared the route will rival the old National pike, which traverses the state from east to west.

The larger cities are responding in a hearty fashion.

W. C. Pearce, International Adult Superintendent from Chicago, by special arrangement will be present at each session. Leon C. Palmer, general secretary of the Alabama Sunday school association and pioneer in the work of federating adult Bible classes, will be another important speaker. Other noted speakers will be present.

BANK OFFICIAL IS INDICTED

Grafton, W. Va., Sept. 20.—The grand jury, after a session of nearly five days, returned indictments against the directors of the Grafton bank, a state institution which closed its doors nearly a year ago, and which at the time it was stated would liquidate without loss to the depositors.

Colonel John T. McGraw, member of the Democratic national committee of West Virginia, was president of the institution. Two indictments were found against him, one alleging felony and one misdemeanor, while fifteen indictments charging felony and one misdemeanor were found against Charles H. Durbin, the cashier, who is McGraw's brother-in-law.

The others indicted are Clyde A. Cole, Thomas E. Joyce, Taylor E. Cole and A. S. Warder, Jr. The assets of the bank were in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. Cashier Durbin's liabilities are said to be $646,000 and his assets $201,000. Colonel McGraw borrowed from the bank in the neighborhood of $100,000, it is charged.

PENDING TREATIES WILL BE TAKEN UP

President Wilson to Call the Senate in Extra Session.

WILL CONVENE IN OCTOBER

Proposed Pact With Colombia Which Aroused the Most Vigorous Opposition at the Recent Session, Among the Treaties to Be Disposed Of. Plan For American Protectorate Over Haiti Also to Come Up.

Washington, Sept. 20.—President Wilson may call the senate in extra session next month for the consideration of pending treaties.

Senator Stone of Missouri, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, arrived in Washington and will have a conference with the president on the subject of an extra session of the senate for this purpose. It is thought probable that some announcement will be forthcoming after the senator's visit to the White House.

The treaties pending are those with Colombia and Nicaragua. They were both vigorously opposed during the last congress. It is expected that if a special session is called for the consideration of these treaties the administration will also place before the senate the treaty with Haiti, signed last week, providing for an United States protectorate over the negro republic.

It became known here that many senators have been under the definite impression that the president would convene the upper house one or two months earlier than the date for the regular session of congress, the first Monday in December. Senator Fletcher of Florida, who was in Washington last week, informed friends that it was the general expectation that the senate would be convened in advance of the regular session. Senator Kern, majority leader in the senate, has for some time been urging that the senate be assembled early for the purpose of passing a cloture rule.

Of the treaties now pending, that with Colombia has attracted the most attention and aroused the most vigorous opposition. This treaty, negotiated in Bogota last year, provides for the payment of the sum of $20,000,000 to Colombia, in compensation for the losses suffered by the South American republic through the separation of Panama. In article 1 it makes this important concession to the feelings of the Colombians:

"The government of the United States of America, wishing to put at rest all controversies and differences with the republic of Colombia arising out of the events from which the present situation on the isthmus of Panama resulted, expresses on its own part and in the name of the people of the United States sincere regret that anything should have occurred to interrupt or mar the relations of cordial friendship that have so long existed between the two nations."

It was this "expression of regret" which resulted in such a storm of disapproval from Colonel Roosevelt and his friends.

Two Mexicans were killed in the Dona district. These were approaching the pumping station. When citizens, who thought the bandits meant to dynamite the station, ordered them to halt, the Mexicans attempted to escape and were killed.

There was another fight in the Dona country. Rangers and citizens located some fifteen Mexicans near a ranch house. A running fight ensued in which two Mexicans were killed and two wounded. The bandits were pursued but escaped.

South of Chapin twenty miles, another band of Mexicans was sighted. Others were seen near San Benito and Ringlod, and ranches in these sections called for help, which could not be furnished because of location. The citizens are armed, however, and little fear is felt for their safety.

There was some firing on the river north of Brownsville, but late reports mention no deaths.

Two Mexican girls, Marie Gonzales and Julia Zapata, were each wounded by a party of Mexicans, who, passing in an automobile, fired into their house, near Brownsville.

STEAMER AFIRE

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 20.—Wireless messages brought word of the burning of a steamer at sea, but left in doubt the identity of the vessel. The steamer was described first as the Doradson liner Athena, but subsequent messages indicated that the burning vessel might be the Greek steamship Athinal, bound from New York for Piraeus. The steamer was abandoned by the crew.

BRYAN RAPS PREPAREDNESS

Boston, Sept. 20.—Ten thousand people sat in the spacious grandstand at the National League club's ball park and heard William J. Bryan lecture on the war and its lessons. They heard the former secretary laud President Wilson, criticize the advocates of greater preparedness, deplore the folly and horror of the European war, lambast the jingoes, and remark that "it was lucky we did not have a jingo president with a hair trigger temper in the White House."

"There are those in this country," said Mr. Bryan, "who propose to prevent war by preparing for it. If there had not been so much preparation, there would have been no war in Europe today. And, my friends, I believe if we had been prepared as some of those people would like to have us we would be in this war now."

Newspaper advertising not only talks but it emphasizes; it has the undivided attention of the reader and covers a field no salesman can hope to reach. There are many styles in newspaper advertising and the small announcement, which costs only five cents, is just as effective in its way as the larger one, which costs proportionately more. The benefits to be derived can not be measured by the size of the ad, for the very good reason that the small, inexpensive announcement invariably proves effective. Newspaper advertising costs from five cents up to any price the advertiser desires to pay.

Bowser Gets Muddled

And He Gets Mad at Being Unmuddled.

By M. QUAD.

Copyright, 1915, by McClure News-paper Syndicate.

Soon after dinner the other evening Mr. Bowser had a caller. The stranger was taken into the library, and after half an hour's conversation he left the house, and Mr. Bowser came out into the sitting room to say:

"Mrs. Bowser, that was a gentleman appointed by the P. C. to wait on me with a request."

"But what is the P. C.?" asked Mrs. Bowser.

"Why, it's the 'Preoccupied club,' of course."

"That's a funny name for a club. What are they preoccupied about?"

"I am not a member and have never visited the club and therefore can't tell you. I understand, however, that they sit around with folded arms and their eyes on the ceiling and think about most everything that has occurred since the time of Adam and Eve. They want me to join and I probably shall."

"I would if I were you," said Mrs. Bowser, "and I'd sit and think of how Cain killed Abel and how Moses was hidden in the bulrushes. Your caller came to invite you to become a member, I suppose?"

"Well, not exactly. He came to invite me to deliver the annual address, which is made before the club once a year. I will now go back to the library and make a start toward composing the address."

"But tell me what is going to be the title of your address, providing you live to finish it."

"It will probably be 'Have Any Really Great Men Lived Up to This Time?' What do you think of such a title?"

"I think you will name several hundred great men who have lived and made the world greater for their living."

Mr. Bowser looked doubtful about it, but went to the library without answering. An hour passed away. No one called to disturb him. He was so very quiet during this hour that Mrs. Bowser laid aside her book and opened the door to find him scratching his head for a thought and nibbling at the end of his pencil. He had only written down the title.

"Why, what is the matter?" she asked.

"For some reason or other," he replied, "I don't seem to catch on. Maybe I am unusually dull tonight."

"Let me help you."

He looked at her with a helpless look, and after some hesitation he asked:

"If you help me to start the address are you going to claim the credit of it?"

"No, of course not. I want you to get the full honors of it."

"Very well; that's fair of you. You know, Mrs. Bowser, that I am a plain man. I hadn't much chance for education during my young days. Ever since our marriage I have been mighty busy trying to make a living and something over."

"I know, dear," she said as she laid her hand on his head.

"I have read some books, but not many, and don't clearly remember what I have read. I don't want to make any mistake in this address, and I shan't if you will help me. I used to know who discovered America as well as I know my own father. It wasn't Shakespeare, was it?"

"Lands, no! It was Columbus."

"So it was. The name comes back to me now. He is called a great man, isn't he?"

"Of course. It surely was a great thing."

"But I don't see it in that light," said Mr. Bowser, with considerable vigor. "If I remember right he simply sailed to the west from Spain until he bumped up against the shores of America. When he wanted to return to Spain he simply had to sail to the east. Couldn't Tom Jones or Bill Brown have done the same thing? Of course they could, and I shall put him down as a very common man. Who was it wrote Shakespeare?"

"Why, Shakespeare himself, of course," smiled Mrs. Bowser.

"What is there great about it?"

"It is great in sentiment, great in thought and one of the greatest literary productions that the world has ever had."

"I fail to see it," grimly replied Mr. Bowser. "I never heard yet that it was a great thing to sit down and write a book or half a dozen of them. You have your library, pen and ink and paper, and nothing to worry about. You can write for an hour or two and then stroll around. You can write by day or by night. I don't want to be too hard on Mr. Shakespeare, but it's my opinion that the man who invented the teakettle was the greater man of the two."

"Well, you have a right to your opinion in the matter," said Mrs. Bowser as she turned her head to keep her face straight.

"Wasn't there a man in olden days named Cicero?" was asked after a minute.

"There was."

"What line was he great in?"

"He was a statesman and an orator."

"Humph! He didn't invent anything? It wasn't he that first brought out the wheelbarrow, the spade or the crowbar?"

"I don't think so."

"Well, down he goes among the common men. How he got his reputation for being great I cannot see. I've heard that there was a great philosopher named Desetlogonese. What about him. Did he invent the shotgun or the long handled shovel?"

"My dear, you ought to be better posted about these things," said Mrs. Bowser. "It was Diogenes who sat in a tub on the street corner and expounded philosophy to the public. There were times when he went about by daylight with a lantern in his hand. When asked why the lantern he replied that he was looking for an honest man."

"Why, he must have been a darned old idiot!" exclaimed Mr. Bowser, as he pounded on his desk. "I shall put him down as a n. g. Now, then, what about Caesar?"

"There were several Caesars, Mr. Bowser. Which one do you mean?"

"I don't know. I thought there wasn't but one, and I think I have heard him referred to as being great. What was he great about?"

"Well, either Augustus or Julius was great in war and the politics of their time. They were rulers, you know."

"But, to come down to brass tacks, what did they do for humanity? What did they do to make the world brighter and better? There was need of a coffeepot. Did they invent one? Did they give us a burglar alarm? Did they inform the world at large that it took three hours longer to digest cooked cabbage than it did if eaten in its raw state? Did they bring out the horseshoe? Did they even invent the shoestring or the darned needle?"

"I guess not," was the faint reply.

"If I were you I wouldn't try to write an address."

"But why?" demanded Mr. Bowser.

"Because you are all muddled up about the great men of the past. You might get Frederick the Great mixed up with Captain Kidd. It's unfortunate that you have not read more history, but, at the same time, you are not to blame for it. The way out of it is to excuse yourself from delivering the address."

"Look here, Mrs. Bowser, how do you happen to know all these things?" demanded Mr. Bowser, as he began to flush up.

"Why, I learned most of them at school and have read more or less history since I was a pupil."

"You and the world call such old back numbers as Alexander the Great tipsters, do you?"

"Of course they were great. I have fully explained their greatness to you. You will find their great deeds in the histories we have got in the house. Why don't you take a week reading up on them before you try this address? I was reading 'Paradise Lost' before I came in here. You know who wrote it, don't you?"

"No! It was Milton."

"I don't care a hang if it was Milton or Texas Pete. He goes down on my list of n. g.'s."

"But I will get you one of the histories from the bookcase."

"You needn't tire yourself, Mrs. Bowser. I am going out for a walk, and if I hear any one say that Napoleon was a great man I'll punch his head!"

"And the address?" queried Mrs. Bowser.

"It can go to Halifax."

Mr. Bowser stamped out of the house and was gone an hour. As he did not return with a black eye and two front teeth missing it was presumed that he did not meet with a man who had words of praise for Napoleon. Neither, perhaps, did he meet with a man who asserted that there was one great man now living who overshadowed all the great men of the past and that his name was—Samuel Bowser.

The New York Times urges a state constabulary to combat with turbulent strikers instead of the national guard. Training the guardsmen for soldier duty would add to the efficiency of the establishment for national defense. The purpose of the guard in the new order of things is to supplement the regular army in time of war. To this end the guardsman should have a different ideal from that which evolves from dealing with street mobs. In war he will confront well trained and well armed soldiers, not to be overawed by a mere show of bayonet and uniform. The guard will always be recruited from the ranks of wage earners, and it is folly to expect that a man will march out with strikers in the morning, then don a uniform and shoe down his fellow workmen in the afternoon.

China had been a monarchy so many thousand years that the people have the inborn habit of yielding to iron-clad rule. The sole reason that the monarchy had to go a few years since was that the dynasty stood for the worst tyranny and corruption imaginable. Not the monarchy, but the system, was out of place in the modern world.

It is said that England wants to store $500,000,000 in gold in the strong boxes of New York. That's taking a bigger risk on our national defenses than some critics would stand for.

Haiti has no high cost of living problem, for food grows to hand, so people can plot revolution while waiting for the stuff to drop into their mouths.

If the United States prepares for war in the old way it may find itself handicapped in fighting an army right up to date in new methods and equipments.

STAN ARTHUR'S AGGREGATION SHOWERED WITH GOOSE EGGS

Athletics Treat Clintons to a Neat Shut Out--Reis and Heironamus Perform Remarkably at Slab--Excited Crowd Swarms Field on Close Decision--Cotterill in Clinton Togs.

Wonderful pitching by Jack Reis, and good base running with timely hits effected a victory for the Athletics Sunday afternoon, over the Wilmington Clintons at Athletic park. The score was 3 to 0.

In the matter of errors the Athletics had more than their share, but the fielding staff always managed to tighten up when necessity pressed hardest.

Reis pitched one of the best games of ball ever seen on a Washington diamond. Time and again Wilmington hopes were nipped clean by his extraordinary twirling. The work of Heironamus was scarcely less commendable. His pitching was excellent and he accomplished the remarkable record of eight assists, one a double play and stopped two hits with his good left paw.

A thousand fans saw the game and spirit was at its high water mark. A close decision nearly precipitated a riot, at one time, and Mayor Coffey and four policemen had their hands full quieting the crowd.

The umpiring of Manning of Springfield was generally approved and was as near a strict book-of-rules enforcement as ever witnessed on a local ball game. During the general argument which followed a close decision at the plate, when Noon scored the Athletics' first run in the fourth, Second Baseman Chapman of the Clintons got a little too vociferous, and was ordered to the bench by Umpire Manning, and finally had to be quelled by the police. Chapman was allowed by Manning to go back into the game, at the intercession of the Washington management.

The honors now stand even, each team having won one game in the series of four.

Pitcher Cotterill, who has been twirling for Washington all season, created a sensation by appearing in a Wilmington uniform. He did not get into the game, however, Heironamus staying the nine innings.

Following is the way the runs were scored:

FIFTH INNING.
Grandle grounded to Chapman, out at first; Noon was hit by Heironamus and stole second; Lewis struck out; Jones singled, scoring Noon; Jones was put out at second.

SIXTH INNING.
Hungeling hit past third for two bases. WOULD END ALL CLASHES ON BORDER

By Associated Press.

Brownsville, Texas, September 20.—General Trevino Carranza, commander of the department of the northeast of Mexico, arrived in Brownsville today from Monterey, according to reports here, will to reach an understanding with United States military authorities which would eliminate future friction and fighting across the international boundary.

Mexican circles saw, in the general's arrival, another effort by Carranza leaders to strengthen their position in the eyes of the pan-American conferees.

After Uncle Sam has pacified Mexico he may feel big enough for that war peace job.
